- Increased confidence and readiness to face actual interviews in various recruitment drives.
- Students identified areas of improvement and received personalized feedback for further skill enhancement.

10. Event Outline

- Mock Interview Rounds: Dr. P. S. Baravkar conducted the mock interviews, simulating real interview environments. Each student participated in both technical and HR rounds, covering subject-specific questions and behavioral assessments.
- Feedback and Guidance: After each interview, personalized feedback was provided, highlighting strengths and suggesting improvements in communication, technical knowledge, and overall presentation.
- Q&A and Interaction: The session concluded with an interactive discussion, where students shared their experiences and clarified doubts related to interview techniques and industry expectations.

11. Event Summary:

The mock interview practice session, conducted by the Department of Mechanical Engineering's Training & Placement Cell, aimed to bridge the gap between academic knowledge and industry requirements. Dr. P. S. Baravkar, with his experience, provided valuable insights and practical guidance to the final-year students, preparing them for the competitive job market.

The session focused on simulating real interview scenarios, allowing students to experience the pressures and expectations of actual recruitment processes. Through constructive feedback, students identified key areas for improvement, enhancing their technical and soft skills.

This initiative not only boosted the students' confidence but also equipped them with the necessary tools to excel in upcoming placement drives, including those of prominent
